Kidding Himself

As an example, the navy has been prevented from building certain aircraft carriers it feels it must have if it is to be properly prepared. And the only logical reasoning behind that action is that the air force can do the whole air job with its big bombers, and that advanced bases and fighter protection are no longer necessary.

This is, of course, the atomic-bomb idea—the theory that with intercontinental bombers we can strike a quick and decisive blow. It is an appealing theory to many because it makes war seem cheap. But it is an unproven theory that goes contrary to all past experiences. If it should turn out to be wrong, in another war, the results might be suicidal.

Real military security requires the development of every one of the services—with each service permitted to obtain the weapons it feels it needs within budget limitations.

Down The Road To Statism

James F. Byrnes, who was formerly Secretary of State, and has long held a high place in the councils of the Democratic Party, recently said, "We are going down the road to statism, where we will wind up no one can tell. But if some of the new programs seriously proposed should be adopted, there is danger that the individual—whether farmer, worker, manufacturer, lawyer, or doctor—will soon be an economic slave, pulling an oar in the galley of the state."

That same idea, in different words, has been expressed time and time again by other American leaders, of all political and economic views and affiliations.

More important, that idea is based solidly upon a rock of fact. The whole history of the modern world supports it. That history is a black and dreary record of steady loss of individual liberty under the crushing force of all-powerful government.

We see it in its extreme form in the communist countries, where tactics of terror unknown since medieval days are used to crush dissent and frighten the people into line. We see it in a much modified version in present-day England, where the forms of Anglo-Saxon law are still followed and the structure of representative government still stand. But the difference is one of detail and degree, not of principle.

It may be that the greatest danger is short-sightedness. The man who runs a store may feel, for instance, that government ownership of some great industry, such as electric power, is of small moment to him. The man who works in a factory may see no personal menace in a law that would give the government power to control over doctors. A labor leader may welcome more and more governmental domination of industrial leaders with whom he has differences. This is the way dictatorship comes about. One group is taken over at a time, while the other groups stand by and argue that it's no affair of theirs. Then, when it is too late, we find to our horror that we're all in the same boat.

In modern times, no nation which has lost its freedom has ever regained it. The totalitarian victories are permanent. On the other hand, the victories of the free who believe in freedom and justice are temporary. The battle must be fought again and again, year after year, on front and rear. And each must be won.

The road to statism is marked with cheerful signs—human welfare, a better life for the masses of people, security against everything. But when the end is reached the people are always in chains.

Useless Millions

If, overnight, each of us received a million dollars, we be worst off than we were without it.

A farmer with a million dollars naturally wouldn't stick to plowing and sowing. Bakers and confectioners with a million dollars wouldn't bake or can. Storekeepers wouldn't sell.

No shepherd with a million in pocket would bother to shear his flock. No millionaire would weave cloth or mine coal.

With a million each, we'd stay cold and hungry—until we learned that money is useless unless goods that it will buy are produced for sale.

Abundant Forests Keep Paper Industry Rolling

Thickening process in a large paper mill prepares woodpulp for manufacture. Paper is end product of a managed forest.

A century and a half ago Congress appealed to patriotic American housewives to save rags for paper manufacturing. The fast-growing new nation needed paper and needed it badly.

Today, 150 years later, Americans are the world's greatest consumers of paper and paper products. Uncle Sam's armies and navies use about 281 pounds apiece each year—that, excepting Canada, eight times the average per capita consumption elsewhere in the world.

Well intentioned as its 1891 approval may have been, Congress can't take the credit for the paper industry's comeback. In fact, history neglects even to note the results of their appeal for rags.

The whole problem was solved when a Canadian developed a practical method of making paper out of wood. His technique, first used in the United States in the 1860's, was an immediate success.

Today, thanks to that Canadian inventor, an industry with imagination and 461 million tons of growing acres, the United States has paper and woodpulp for all the needs of its 150 million people.

Whether it's newspaper or tissue napkins, cardboard boxes or building paper, the forest is the source of it all. The United States has the ingredients for today's supply and tomorrow's, too.

Essentially, the manufacture of paper is a process of breaking

MRS. MILLAR TALKS TO GARDEN CLUB MEMBERS
Marking their first regular meeting of the season, Garden Club members enjoyed a pot-luck luncheon last Thursday, September 15, at the City Park Shelter. Mrs. Ivan Van Horn, Mrs. Harry Petters and Mrs. S. A. Roberts were hostesses. A brief business meeting was conducted by president, Mrs. Van Horn, following the luncheon at which time she announced she has over one hundred Ixora and Hibiscus plants to donate to the club for use in their city beautification project this year.

Of special interest was a talk by Mrs. H. H. Millar, Papokee, on growing Gerberas from seed and the art of making corsages.

Mrs. S. A. Roberts, chairman, announced Mrs. Ivan Van Horn, Mrs. C. W. McDonald and Mrs. Luther Jones will assist her as Junior Garden Club Committee.

First place in arrangements of Ixora contest went to Mrs. Van Horn and second to Mrs. Luther Jones. Mrs. Jones was first in the specimen contest and Mrs. W. R. Hooker second.

A new member, Mrs. W. S. Knick, was voted into the club.

Planned for an early fall meeting was an all day school for color harmonies with Mrs. Virginia Weller of Norfolk, Virginia, as instructor.

Roll call was answered by a report from each member on their summer garden activities.

Five guests, Mrs. Joe Jones, Mrs. L. F. Vandewater, Mrs. D. R. Kemper, Mrs. Donald Jones and Mrs. Hugh Brady, attended.

Members present in addition to those mentioned were: Mrs. Van Horn, Mrs. B. S. Brown, Mrs. M. W. Glese, Mrs. T. E. Hollingsworth, Mrs. W. W. Johnson, Mrs. M. M. Sabin, Mrs. Nell Scullen, Mrs. Lonnie Warren, Mrs. Della Alaman, Mrs. George Tedder, Mrs. M. J. Giedhill and Mrs. H. D. Beck.

PROMOTION PARTY GIVEN FOR BAPTIST CHILDREN
Under the direction of their department superintendent, Mr. W. E. Cato, the Baptist Junior Sunday School class enjoyed an annual promotion party Friday night, September 15th, at the Baptist Social Hall.

The occasion honored the promotion from primary to junior and junior to intermediate departments.

The hall was decorated with orange and green crepe paper streamers. A number of games were played under the supervision of Miss Louise Moneaux and Miss Gertrude Keifer, visiting missionaries from New York State.

Mrs. W. L. Cunningham entertained with several piano selections and accompanied the group singing.

Cake and ice cream were served by the teachers, Mrs. Vernon Jones, Mrs. Jim Moody and Mrs. Wade Griffin. Fifty-four children attended.

BREGER HOME SCENE OF BUFFET SUPPER
A buffet supper followed by a series of card games constituted a get-together party for a group of young people last Saturday evening at the Thomas E. Breger home.

Carolyn Jean Freedlund is assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. I. Freedlund of Belle Glade in adjusting her veil before leaving for the Community Methodist Church at Belle Glade for her marriage Saturday to Charles Stanley Doll, Jr., of Jacksonville. Bridesmaids and matron of honor are Joan Cook of Miami, Louise Friedheim and Jeanne Hooker of Belle Glade.

It is hoped that in the near future other information centers will be established at the Georgia-Florida and Florida-Alabama state lines where tourists come into the state on its principal arteries.

The State Road Department Welcome Station was officially opened on November 4, 1949 and by the end of the winter season some 18,888 visitors had been served free orange juice and provided with information on Florida highways, cities and attractions. Approximately five gallons of orange juice were served daily and visitors mailed well over 25,000 of the "Guest of Florida" cards.

It is interesting to note that the majority of tourists coming into the state had not decided on a specific destination and planned to tour the state. Needless to say, the Information Center was of greatest help to these visitors. Sixteen per cent of the registrants signified that Miami was their ultimate destination with St. Petersburg, Daytona Beach, Jacksonville, Key West and Miami following the order of popularity. The people stopping at the center find a wealth of information and literature available since brochures and maps are provided here from 75 Florida cities and 24 state attractions.

Although Florida is considered the "Yank-et" state south of the Mason-Dixon Line, the warm hospitality of its people is the palm tree. As definite proof of its warm hospitality and to insure their visitors a warm welcome, the State Road Department has established an Information Station on U. S. Highway 17 at Yulee, right on the Georgia-Florida state line. Heading the staff of the station is Miss Shirley Rodgers, a lovely lady blonde, who was selected by the Road Department because of her charming personality and knowledge of the state. Shirley, a native of Florida and is an expert at handling people as well as distributing information concerning the state. To complement the staff, Miss Rodgers is assisted by Margaret Flynn of Tallahassee and Phyllis Ullrich of Fort Lauderdale. The young ladies also have a vast knowledge of the state and were chosen for their personal ability in handling people.

As far as is humanly possible to find out, the Florida State Road Department Welcome Station is the only one of its kind in the nation. Credit for the idea goes to S. Kendrick Guernsey of Jacksonville. Mr. Guernsey suggested this service to the Road Department during the last administration. It was designed, I believe, by Earl Browder, who was a member of the State Road Board during the last administration. It was through the efforts of Chairman Alfred McKethan of the State Road Department and the present Road Board along with help from the State Chamber of Commerce and the various chambers throughout the state.

Statewide open hunting season on rails (marsh hens) and gallinules is in effect from September 15 to November 13, according to Ben McLaughlin, assistant director of the Florida State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

Hunting will be permitted from one half hour before sunrise until sunset, and daily bag and possession limit has been set at 15, including a single species or mixed bag.

Hunters are also being warned that shooting from powered motorboats will not be permitted this season. Outboard motors must be actually detached from the boat before a bird may be legally shot. Mere shutting off the motor, without detaching it from the stern or transom of the boat, before shooting a bird will be illegal.

Protected by both the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, marsh hens and gallinules are most abundant in the Second and Fifth Congressional Districts, or the marshes along the Intracoastal Waterway on the east coast of Florida. Although hunting is usually most intense in the area from St. Augustine northward to the Georgia line, McLaughlin stated.

Met. Physical Handicapped Week Scheduled Oct. 1-7

Plans for National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, October 1-7, which is observed annually by Presidential Proclamation, are well underway in Florida. For A. Hathaway, Director of the Florida State Employment Service, reported recently.

Organizational plans for the observance this year have already been completed by the Florida committee. Members of the committee appointed by the Governor, in addition to Hathaway, are: Claude Andrews, Director of Vocational Rehabilitation, Chairman, Tallahassee; M. M. Greene, Veterans Administration, St. Petersburg; William Smith, Director, Florida CIO, Tampa; S. Kendrick Guernsey, President, Gulf Life Insurance Corp., Jacksonville; Donald K. Carroll, State Commander, American Legion, Jacksonville; Excel C. Queen, Post Commander, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Ocala; Howard D'Vaughn, Post Commander, Disabled American Veterans, Jacksonville; Frank Roche, President, Florida Federation of Labor, Miami; Harry H. Simmons, Director, Florida Council for the Blind, Tampa; and R. E. McDonald, State Veterans Employment Representative, Jacksonville.

This committee, headed by Andrews, will spearhead the statewide program to encourage employers to use handicapped workers. While most of the work in connection with the program is handled by local committees, the Employment Service Director said the state group will serve in collecting and directing any ideas to the local committees through the agencies represented.

Incendiary Or Deliberately Set Causes Most Fires

Incendiary or deliberately set wildfires accounted for nearly three fourths of all woods fires in Florida last year, according to the annual fire report of the Florida Forest Service.

The report, for the business year which ended June 30, shows that 73.8 per cent of all woods fires were started on purpose. Brush burning accounted for the next greatest number of fires with 10.2 per cent. Unknown causes accounted for 8.0 per cent while smokers started 2.6 per cent. Railroads caused 2.1 per cent and miscellaneous causes resulted in 2.1 per cent of all woods fires. Lightning caused 1.0 per cent of woods fires while lumbering operations resulted in 1.0 per cent and campers caused 0.8.

Approximately 356,000 acres were burned as a result of all causes of protected lands. Of this, 223,300 acres of the burn was the result of deliberately set wildfires. About 25,700 acres were burned as the result of brush burning. The smallest area of burn by cause was due to campers, a loss of 1,847 acres.

These figures were for wildfires on 9,357,396 protected acres. Exact figures are not available for fire losses on unprotected lands, but the causes of fires are about the same. The number, area and damage of wildfires on unprotected land is considerably greater.

Hide of Champion Bull Is Presented To Univ. of Ill. College of Agri.

GARY, ILL.—Homage is paid to Netherhall Swampy Dan, champion Ayarhite bull, as Otto Schenker (left), president of Curtiss Candy Company, presents the animal's hide to Prof. W. W. Yapp (right), acting for the head of the Department of Dairy and Food Science of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. The college requested the bull's hide for exhibition after he died March 14 at the Curtiss Candy Farm near Gary. Winner of 54 grand championships, he was said to be the greatest of all show bulls and his skeleton has been presented to the Smithsonian Institution for research purposes. Looking on are Dulbert E. Kingston, superintendent of livestock for the Curtiss Farms; Elmer Hansen, field director of the farm's improved breeding program and former head of the dairy department of Iowa State College; and William E. Hunter, farm manager. Prof. Yapp, Mr. Kingston and Mr. Hansen all served as judges on various occasions when championships were awarded to Netherhall Swampy Dan prior to his purchase by the farms.

Too Late To Classify

The BIG LIE is a far more dangerous weapon than the atomic bomb. Russia is using it with telling effect against the United States and the world. Unless we as a people arise in our might and retaliate with the BIG TRUTH, we may find ourselves enslaved as other nations are today because they failed to act in time.

The United States is being pictured as a nation money-mad moron. The world is being told, over and over again, that we are aggressors. That we seek to conquer the world. We are pointed out as a nation of brutes and gangsters, power and money mad.

We try to comfort ourselves with the belief that these lies are so monstrous that no one will believe them. But people do believe them, people who hear these things about us, repeated over and over and over again.

It is imperative that we get our side of the story to these unfriended millions. We must pierce the Iron Curtain with TRUTH.

President Truman knows this. General Eisenhower knows this. General Clay, whose airlift saved us in Berlin, knows this. They know that unless we can win this gigantic struggle for men's minds, peace is impossible.

In a warning broadcast on all radio networks on Labor Day, General Eisenhower called on you and me and every good American to enlist in a campaign against the BIG LIE. This movement has been well organized and calls for the establishment of several powerful independent radio stations over which hundreds of refugees from enslaved countries will tell the TRUTH about America to their uniformed and unfortunate fellow countrymen. They will make these talks in their own native language which will be beamed directly to the countries concerned.

In addition, it is proposed to establish a great Freedom Shrine behind the Iron Curtain in Berlin. This shrine will house a giant 10-ton Freedom Bell and it will be dedicated on United Nations Day, October 24.

Between now and that date you will be called to sign the "Freedom Scroll" subscribing to the following declaration:

"I believe in the sacredness and dignity of the individual. I believe that all men derive the right to freedom equally from God."

I pledge to resist aggression and tyranny wherever they appear on earth.

I am proud to enlist in the Crusade for Freedom. I am proud to help make the Freedom Bell possible, to be a signer of this declaration, to have my name included as a permanent part of the Freedom Shrine in Berlin and to join with millions of men and women throughout the world who hold the cause of freedom sacred."

The amount you contribute to this worthy cause is up to you. Every cent you contribute will go to fight Communism and preserve freedom for you, your loved ones and all who love freedom.

This great campaign began last week. First name on the Freedom Scroll was that of our Governor, Fuller Warren, followed by the signatures of cabinet members, R. A. Gray, Secretary of State; Richard E. Lamm, State Treasurer; T. D. Bailey, Superintendent of Public Instruction and State Comptroller, C. M. Gay.

The goal for Florida in the "Crusade for Freedom" is one million names. Even though you may not be able to face the foe on the battle field, you can do your part in this cold war for men's minds. Make sure your name is enrolled on the "Freedom Scroll and be generous in your contribution to help raise the Iron Curtain and give voice to TRUTH.

CINEMATIC CHATTERBy Malcolm Miller
I see Jack Benny has bought The Bill Perlberg house in Palm Springs, California, which is somewhat of a house, in fact, in a kidding way, it has been referred to as the Perlberg Hotel. Mary and Jack are having some changes made in the general arrangement and plan to spend most of this winter at Palm Springs. Perhaps Jack is putting in a ticket booth for sightseers, a Coke machine for little revenue, a special garage for the Maxwell, and a few inconveniences for Rochester.

Well Bruce Cabot, he-man of motion pictures, has gone and done it. Yup, he snuck off to Mexico and married a gal named Francesca de Scaffa, who is really a whole lot of good looking. Bruce said he regretted every move he made since he married her. Wonder if she and Harry are on speaking terms. It is said that Lauren Bacall gave Kirk Douglas his shove toward Hollywood and stardom. He was a star on Broadway and Miss Bacall, seeing a wonderful future in store for him, got word to a talent scout and Doug was on his way to California before he knew it. Incidentally Lauren Bacall and Kirk Douglas are the stars of "Young Man With a Horn," which is due to be screened at the Hugo Theatre Sunday-Monday. See you at the movies... Mal

Game And Fish Comm.

To Consider Plan For New Breeding Grounds

Members of the State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission will meet in Tallahassee October 4 to consider the creation of new wildlife breeding grounds in various parts of the state. Director Coleman Newman announced recently.

Newman also predicted that the members of the five-man commission will discuss a resolution passed at a meeting there last month concerning used with four lots of 200 each at the Circle-Somers Ranch, Ocala, Florida, where a 2-year experiment has just been completed by the Bell Telephone Company, in co-operation with the Florida Cattle Company.

The purpose of the research work was to develop a feeding program for calves which would increase the calf crop and produce heavier calves at weaning.

Earwood is teaching this group and we think she's doing a good job. Who knows, we may have some real artist in our school at the end of the year!

F. H. A. Meeting

The Future Homemakers of America Club is again being discussed and will soon get underway. Mrs. Litchfield, the leader, called a meeting of all the officers last Wednesday. Their meeting was for the purpose of planning this year's activity and membership. Quite a few students are planning to join this group. It's a good club to belong to. Another meeting will be called shortly.

New Typewriters

Something new was added to the typing room on Wednesday. In fact the typing students will be pretty glad to use the new typewriter, which is a Royal. However, two other new ones are ordered which will arrive before long; they will be Underwoods. When they come, there will be almost all new typewriters. This is a big improvement in the typing classes.

Glee Club

Glee Club officers were chosen at the last meeting. We feel they are a very capable staff. Clark Womack is the new president, vice president, Patti Ingram and Secretary and Treasurer, Ann Baldwin. Another meeting will be held later to decide on further business details.

School News

By Grace Matthews

Another busy week has come to close and with it many exciting events. Just to give you an idea of Belle Glade's busy high school we'll look back over these items.

Home Room Meetings

Wednesday afternoon 7th period all the classes met in home rooms. We are going to have home room meetings every Wednesday. All the classes discussed what they would do during that period and some classes even got their chairman chosen, but others were slower and will choose theirs at the next meeting. These meetings are entertaining, interesting and even educational, so we feel they're held for a good cause.

Cheerleaders

Cheerleaders were selected at the end of last week in assembly. There were seven girls who tried out for the positions and from them three girls were chosen. Our new cheerleaders are Ann Bass, Catherine and Ester Friedheim. Along with the three others from last year, Betty Bearden, Fay Swanson and Jean Rabin, we should have a good cheering group this year. They should be in good shape by the first game and will be in new uniforms. Let's all give them our full support.

In assembly Mr. Hobson introduced the new teachers and made necessary announcements through the new microphone system donated to the school from last year's senior class. The school has needed a microphone for quite sometime and I know we all appreciate having one.

Before the assembly got underway, the Seniors sitting in their seats of honor in the balcony, gave a big yell for the Seniors. Surely seems good to have that balcony to ourselves this year.

Pep Club

The majority of students filed into the gym on Monday to join the Pep Club and select the officers. Rules were discussed and also season tickets for football games. The rest of the time was spent selecting officers. New president is Gloria Crosby, vice president, Florence Borres, Secretary and Treasurer, Margen Matthews. At the next meeting the cheerleaders will give a few yells and more business will be discussed. There should be a cheering team this year at the football games.

Annual Staff

Mr. Hobson called a meeting on Tuesday, for all the annual staff officers. The purpose was to discuss and begin making arrangements with the group for work on the annuals. Miss Diggs, a very capable advisor, will be our leader and will help us in our ideas and work. As soon as all necessary preparations are made, the staff will begin working on the annuals for this year.

Football Clinic

A football clinic was held Thursday night on the football field to inform the fans around our community of the new rules and plays in football and to interest people more in our local games. The cheerleaders gave a few yells and all of us are getting in shape to yell at the game which is only a week off now. There was a meeting of all the football boys Monday of this week working toward preparation for the games. We hope everything goes smoothly and we're betting on the Golden Rams.

Art Course

Many of the students this year were very happy to be able to take an art course. It's surprising how many talented students we have for art. Mrs.

Staggered days for the 1950-51 hunting season.

A CROSS this broad land there are thousands of people who have been doing themselves a disfavor.

It is a six—or an eight, like Buick? If an eight, is it a valve-in-head eight? That adds a plus in efficiency, you know, even without the extra edge of Buick's Fireball power.

Will you ride on four soft coil springs, as in Buick—or on only two? Will the drive be through a sealed torque-tube that keeps the rear wheel assembly firmly aligned? It is in a Buick.

Do you get soft, low-pressure tires as part of the price—or as extra? Will you have bumper guards built as part of the bumper, or a one-piece cast metal grille that can be easily repaired or replaced?
